About this booklet

It can be difficult for people to know where to start when seeking advice, support or treatment for alcohol or other drug use. There are many different treatment options available and this booklet provides specific information on withdrawal management and rehabilitation support services. This booklet is broken down into geographical areas within Queensland and may assist with locating services in your local area.

Unfortunately, there can be 'wait times' before commencing with a service. Please contact the listed service directly to discuss options that might suit your needs. Alternatively, if you need further information or immediate support call Adis 24/7 Alcohol and Drug Support on 1800 177 833.

What should I do in an emergency?

If someone has collapsed or lost consciousness, call an ambulance on triple zero (000). If they have stopped breathing commence CPR. If they are breathing normally place them into the recovery position and wait with them until the ambulance arrives.

Withdrawal Management

also called 'withdrawal' or 'detox'

Understanding Withdrawal Management

What is it and how it can help

Withdrawal management provides support for people when they are stopping or cutting back their use of alcohol or other drugs and can help people manage their withdrawal symptoms.

Withdrawal management as a stand alone treatment has limited effectiveness and treatment outcomes are enhanced when people engage in further treatment such as counselling and/or rehabilitation services.

Withdrawing from alcohol or benzodiazepines without medical supervision can be life-threatening and people are encouraged to seek medical advice and support.

What to expect

People can feel unwell during a withdrawal and may require medical treatment. This could include the short-term use of prescribed medications to help people manage their physical and psychological withdrawal symptoms. Treatment usually takes between 5 - 7 days but it may be longer for some substances such as benzodiazepines.

During an inpatient withdrawal the person may be admitted to a hospital, or another treatment facility. During an outpatient withdrawal the person stays at home (or another safe place) with daily visits to a health professional. In some cases a GP may be able to manage an outpatient withdrawal. To find out more about which setting is most suitable speak to your GP, local alcohol and drug service, or contact Adis 24/7 Alcohol and Drug Support on 1800 177 833.

Things to consider when choosing a Withdrawal Management Service

- Is it an outpatient or inpatient service?
- How long is the withdrawal management program?
- What is the assessment process and is a referral from a doctor needed?
- What are the costs and is there a fee?
- Do I need to live in a particular area to access the service?
- Is public transport nearby? If not, how do I get there?
- Are there any exclusions?
- Is there follow up support after completing the withdrawal?

Other things to consider if choosing an inpatient Withdrawal Management Service

- Is smoking or vaping allowed and/or is nicotine replacement therapy offered?
Please note: In Queensland vaping products containing nicotine are illegal, unless on prescription.
- Can I bring my children or can they visit?
- Are there restrictions on other visitors, phone calls, or leave away from the service?
- Are there any restrictions on personal devices e.g. mobile phones, tablets / iPads, laptops?

Rehabilitation Services also called 'rehab'

Understanding Rehabilitation

What is it and how can it help

Rehabilitation offers intensive and structured treatment for people who are experiencing significant harms due to their alcohol or other drug use.

Rehabilitation focuses on relearning life skills and coping without the use of alcohol or other drugs. There can be different approaches which vary between rehabilitation services but they usually include a mix of one-on-one counselling, group work, peer support meetings, and team / community building exercises.

Rehabilitation can help people focus their energy on positive lifestyle changes and take some 'time out' while they work on their alcohol or drug concerns.

What to expect

Rehabilitation can be offered as a 'residential' or 'non-residential' program and requires a commitment from people to remain abstinent from all substances. Rehabilitation is a longer term treatment, usually between 6 weeks and 12 months. In a residential rehab a person lives in the treatment facility which provides 24 hour support.

Non-residential rehab (sometimes called 'Dayhab') offers daily, intensive, and structured treatment for people who wish to remain living at home.

Prior to attending a rehabilitation program, a person is required to complete a withdrawal management / detoxification. For information on withdrawal management options, please refer to page 3 in this booklet, or contact Adis 24/7 Alcohol and Drug Support on 1800 177 833.

Things to consider when choosing a Rehabilitation Service

- Is it a residential or non-residential program (i.e. dayhab) program?
- How long is the program?
- What is the assessment process?
- What are the costs and is there an upfront fee?
- Do I need a referral from a GP / Psychiatrist?
- Are individual counselling sessions provided?
- Do I need to live in a particular area to access the service?
- What are the rules I need to abide by to be part of the program?
- Is public transport nearby? If not, how do I get there?
- Are there restrictions on prescribed medications? e.g. Methadone / Suboxone, Benzodiazepines.
- Is there follow up support after completing the rehabilitation program?
- Is smoking or vaping allowed and/or is nicotine replacement therapy offered?
Please note: In Queensland vaping products containing nicotine are illegal, unless on prescription.

Other things to consider if choosing a Residential Rehabilitation Service

- What do I need to bring?
- Do I get my own room?
- Can I bring my children, or can they visit?
- Are there restrictions on other visitors, phone calls, or leave away from the service?
- Are there restrictions on personal devices e.g. mobile phones, tablets / iPads, laptops?
